Luna CC to host car show Quality Motors owner Al Romero to be recognized

Luna Community College will be having its 7th Annual Car Show from 10 a.m. to 3 p.m. on Saturday, June 11, 2011.

Trophies will be given in several categories including: low-rider, rod and custom, truck, 4X4, import, motorcycle, pedal bike/car, muscle car, original, rat rod, unfinished and best of show. All awards will be selected by people that attend the event. Each car will have a number and spectators and participants can pick their favorite car—one per each category.

All car show entries will get a free goody bag and will have a chance to win door prizes. A $15 entry fee is required per entry. Entries will be received until the day of the event.

There will also be music and food vendors at the family event.

Al Romero

This year, Quality Motors owner Al Romero will be honored as a local automotive icon.

“We really respect Al Romero for always being a strong supporter and contributor to our car show,” said Anthony Baca, LCC vocational instructor and car show organizer. The 7th Annual LCC Car Show is sponsored by the LCC Trades Department and co-sponsored by the LCC Student Government and the LCC SkillsUSA Organization.

For more information on the 7th Annual Custom Car Show & Shine call Anthony Baca at 454-2591 or 429-0425, Gene Sandoval at 454-2590 or Gilbert “Guba” Martinez 454-2591.

Peter Manthei says he enjoyed working with people from Luna

Peter Manthei overlooked the institutional research and development department at Luna Community College over the last four years. He is retiring at the end of the month.

What is your fondest memory while working here at Luna Community College?

I don't really have a "fondest memory" but have enjoyed working with people at the college. Most have been helpful and supportive of what I have been trying to do. I did enjoy working on the Foundation Golf Tournament.

What are you most proud of while working at Luna Community College?

Establishing a "snapshot" data archive for each semester based on data files submitted to the New Mexico Higher Educational Department.

What do you feel is the strongest point Luna Community College has going for it?

Most employees seem dedicated to helping our students and making the educational process as smooth and enjoyable as possible.

What does Luna Community College need to work on to become a premier community college?

A more directed, focused approach toward making improvements. Not trying to tackle everything at once. Using data to decide priorities on improvements.

Valley Schools receive books

Valley Elementary and Middle School Principal Becky Gallegos along with her staff and students would like to thank Sen. Pete Campos and Rep. Rick Vigil for being instrumental in bringing author Ana Baca and Bueno Foods Company to their school. Baca donated 60 books and several dozen bags of tortillas to Valley Schools.

The 'How America Pays for College Survey,' which is based on last year's freshman class, found that mom and dad continue to be the No.1 source of college funding with 37 percent of parents saying they will use both savings and current income to help cover costs, Fox Business reports.

The survey also found 23 percent of students received financial help in the form of grants and scholarships. Student loans account for another 14 percent and roughly 1 out of 10 students is using personal savings and money earned from working. One surprise: The most recent survey found an increase in financial help coming from family and friends.

Attention grandparents, aunts, uncles and anyone else wishing to help, instead of writing a check to the student, make it out directly to the college. No matter what the amount, you won't have to file a gift tax return and your contribution won't count against your lifetime gifting limit, which currently sits at $5 million.

Wagon Mound students benefit from Luna CC courses

Wagon Mound High students Corey Muñiz and Amber Maestas display a poker table and a standup closet they recently completed. Furniture and cabinet making courses have become popular.

By Nick Trujillo

Students and community members benefit from Luna Community College course offerings at Wagon Mound High School. The convenience of taking courses within the community is what brings the students back semester after semester.

Luna Community College has made significant strides in addressing student needs in the small community. For years Wagon Mound went un-served but now that Luna Community College has established itself in the community, students are once again participating in courses.

Vocational courses and more specifically the Furniture and Cabinet courses are very popular in Wagon Mound. Students become familiar with safety requirements for use of the tools and have created amazing pieces of work.

In addition to the vocational courses, high school students participate in dual credit courses that provide them the opportunity to gain college credit while still in high school.

Luna Community College President Dr. Pete Campos (right) is interviewed by KSSR's Gabe Esquibel in Santa Rosa last Thursday. Campos will host a show at 10 a.m. every other Thursday with KSSR.

Making time for what's important

By Melissa Gold

Small Business Development Center at Luna Community College

With hectic work schedules, family responsibilities, and social engagements, there just doesn't seem to be enough time for everything we need and want to do. However, there is light at the end of the tunnel. There are things you can do to help manage your time and learn how to work smarter and not harder.

The first step in learning how to manage your time is to develop a general work schedule. Your work schedule should include time for yourself as well as time for the maintenance of your business.

After you've defined the major elements of your workload, the next step is to prioritize them by identifying critical deadlines, routine maintenance items, and fun/relaxation time. Answering questions like "How much time do I have to make this decision, finish this task, or contact this person?" will help you to start identifying what needs to be done immediately versus what can wait. Setting priorities depends on deadlines, how many people you must call to get the information you need, and whether you can delegate or get assistance from others. If you are involved in group projects, reserve additional time for communication and problem-solving.

Once you have identified your priorities, look at all of your options for achieving them. Evaluate and move forward with the ones you feel are the most useful for you. The only time to consider changing approaches mid-task is when you know the change will save time. If you are in doubt, it is usually best to consider in the direction you started.

By setting up your work schedule and identifying your priorities, you have already started down the road to more effective time management. Other time management suggestions you may find useful for managing both your business life as well as your personal life include the following:

•Contract out tasks. Contract out tasks you do not have the expertise to complete. Your client will appreciate your honesty and effort to get the best result.

•Start with the most worrisome task. Start the morning, afternoon, or evening with the most worrisome task before you. This will reduce your anxiety level for the next task.

•Complete deadline work early. Not only will this reduce stress and lighten your work schedule, but it will also give you more self-confidence about managing your schedule.

•Know your capacity for stress. When you are hitting overload, take the break you need (even if it is a short one) when you need it.

•Stay organized. Take time at the end of each day to briefly organize your desk and make reminder lists of tasks for the next day or week.

•Take advantage of "down time." Allow yourself some "down time" between busy periods to review your schedule and reevaluate your priorities.

•Get physical. Physical exertion such as walking, bicycling, swimming, or organized sports activities helps to discharge stress.

Stretching, yoga, jumping rope, sit-ups, playing with children, or doing yard work are other types of therapeutic breaks you should consider during times of stress.

•Have fun. Be sure to have some fun while working or playing; a good sense of humor can keep most problems in perspective.

•Divide up your time. Decide how much time to spend on business development, personal needs, volunteerism and family. Start by allowing 25 percent of your time for yourself. Each time you make a commitment, set a timeline for your involvement. Remember that maintenance takes at least 25 percent of the time you spend on any project whether it's business, marriage, or serving on the board of a non-profit organization.

Don't underestimate the toll that emotional stress takes on your physical health and your ability to concentrate on your work or enjoy time with your family. Make sure you have time for the important people and events in your life.

If you are in need of direct assistance, the Small Business Development Center can help you. The assistance is FREE and confidential. The SBDC at Luna Community College can assist YOU with any business concerns. LCC—tuition cost among the lowest sage I'm trying to get across. So I'm going to just come out and say it—Luna Community College's tuition rate is among the lowest in the en-

Sometimes columnists try to come up with a clever line to open up their story.

I really don't think this is necessary for the mesture state. Even with the recent tuition increase approved by the LCC Board of Trustees, our $35 a credit hour for in-district students starting in the fall, is still very, very, very affordable.

Last week, I called 17 community colleges in the state (including Northern New Mexico College) and talked either to someone in admissions, their fiscal office or other school personnel about their rates.

The only two colleges that have lower tuition rates than us appear to be Southwestern Indian Polytechnic Institute which ranges from $250 to $280 a semester. New Mexico Junior College is at $33 a credit hour. Keep in mind this is for in-district students.

Our tuition this summer is $33 a credit hour, so we are right there with NMJC.

New Mexico State-Carlsbad is at $39 while Santa Fe Community College is at $39.50.

Clovis Community College is at $42 a credit hour while San Juan College is at $43. Central New Mexico, Mesalands and Northern New Mexico College are all right around $44.

New Mexico State-Doña Ana is at $57 while UNM-Los Alamos is at $60. UNM-Grants is at $62 while UNM-Valencia is at $65.05. UNM-Taos is at $69.10 and UNM-Gallup is at $71. New Mexico State-Alamogordo is at $76.

If I am incorrect in any of these numbers please send me an e-mail and I will gladly do a follow-up.

But back to the original focus—community colleges in New Mexico are very affordable and Luna Community is in this mix. Keep in mind that attending community colleges have many advantages—one of the biggest is cost.

I want to wish all our Luna Community College students that will be competing at the SkillsUSA National Competition later in mid-June good fortune. Our students usually do well. It would be nice to see a top 10 finish this year. Keep in mind that the best of the best of each state will be represented.

Don't forget about our annual car show coming up on Saturday, June 11. Anthony Baca, one of our collision repair instructors, is leading the way on this. This will be the second consecutive year it will be held on the college campus. This is a good way to showcase our college. Last year we had close to 1,000 people attend this event.
