The crest of being premier

By Dr. Pete Campos
LCC President

Life at Luna Community College begins with the well-being of all our students, faculty, staff, administration, Board of Trustees and the residents of the communities we serve. Our physical and mental health is grounded in the way we treat each other, our traditions and culture, and today's modern health care techniques, natural remedies, and medicines.

We believe in the earth and what it produces for our lifelong sustainability. The fruits, vegetables, grains, fish, cattle, sheep, chickens, and herbs the people of northeastern New Mexico grow and raise all contribute to a nutritious and healthy lifestyle that we promote at all our campuses and through our culinary arts, allied health, nursing and dental programs.

Look carefully at the mural (at right). It's significance and beauty tells the story how we rely on natural health methods, modern medical technology, the wisdom and spiritualism of our elders, and a full-fledged approach to prepare our students for life as health providers and lifelong care givers. The students who attend our

Students, citizens show support for satellites, site

By Sherry Goodyear
LCC Instructor

The LCC Board of Directors held its May work session in Springer recently. Springer Boy Scout Pack 67 posted the colors under the supervision of pack leaders, Joseph Smith (Springer – maintenance employee), Adam Criswell (Luna student), and Robert Brashear.

Numerous visitors from Springer, Mora, Las Vegas, Maxwell, Cimarron, Santa Rosa, Wagon Mound, and the surrounding area were in attendance to show support for the satellite as Informational Item G was reviewing the viability of the Springer, Mora and Santa Rosa satellites/sites.

Several ex-students, current students, Luna employees, and local concerned citizens got up and presented testimonials regarding how important the satellites are to our rural communities.

The Luna Community College vision statement: “New Mexico’s Premier Community College: Preparing Students for Success” is a practice used in every campus department. The academic and vocational rigor used to prepare students for life’s journey, at times, may seem highly stressful with little light at the end of the tunnel, but to those who apply themselves 100 percent find themselves amazed at what they have achieved when they walk across the stage at graduation. An unknown author said, “Peace does not mean to be in a place where there is no noise, trouble, or hard work. Peace means to be in the midst of all those things and still be calm in your heart.”

There are no failures at Luna Community College. Every student who enrolls experiences at least a snapshot of college life and adds priceless value to their lives and careers. I’ve talked to LCC nursing program graduates who passed their state boards and found themselves being an appreciated caregiver by the families who lost terminally ill family members at home or in hospitals. They are grateful for the rigorous training received that prepared them to provide quality care to their fellow human beings. I’ve also talked to students who didn’t pass a nursing class and returned to meet the requirements to complete the program, and did so. Some have said they appreciated their education more when they returned. Bill Bradley, Rhodes Scholar and American Hall of Fame Basketball Player said, “Ambition is the path to success. Persistence is the vehicle you arrive in.”

Regardless of a student’s situation, what is learned at LCC can be planted as a “life changing” seed, and if nurtured with a positive attitude, can become deep rooted in humility, success, and stronger appreciation for life. The keys are: never stop trying; value and live every moment as if it were your last; work at becoming the best you can be; and, recognize your talents as precious gems and polish them so they shine and your contributions in life positively affect others. Norman B. Rice, Former Mayor of Seattle, Washington said, “Dare to reach out your hand into the darkness, to pull another hand into the light.”

Luna Community College Family, thank you for another successful academic year.

Among the guest speakers were Rey Gaytan (adjunct art history teacher for Luna), Aaron Kenney (previous Luna student), Landon Newton (Colfax County Commissioner), Fernando Garcia (Mayor of Springer), Rebecca Herrera (Luna student), Joey Vigil (Mora , 2014 RN Luna graduate), Christopher Kelley (Mora 2014 RN Luna graduate), Louise Portillos (Director of the Springer Satellite), Wanda Martinez (Director of the Mora Site), Albert Campos (Director of the Santa Rosa Satellite), Melinda Leyba (JAG Specialist at Mora High School), Peter Martinez (Assistant Fire Chief for Mora Volunteer Fire Dept.), and Richard Perea (Superintendent of Santa Rosa Schools).

The presenters discussed all of the many ways the satellites contribute to the overall success rate of the main campus. Having the satellites in these rural areas increases the likelihood for student success because students feel comfortable with the friendly staff and teachers who work at these satellites/site.

For example, the Springer satellite services students in Raton, Wagon Mound, Cimarron, Maxwell and Springer. They offer classes at the Springer Correctional Center; they partner with Highlands in Raton where they offer evening classes; they offer dual credit for high school students in Cimarron, Mora, Springer, Santa Rosa, Maxwell and Raton. The campus itself is a central location where numerous organizations meet—for example Grow Raton, the Greater Springer Area Economic Development Corporation, the Game and Fish Department (Hunter's Safety course), and many more. Springer had five Luna graduates this May, and one of them is Rebecca Herrera with a certificate in allied health.

In Santa Rosa, the Springer Satellite partnered with Santa Rosa High School to pilot a Trades Dual Credit Program whereby high school students earned both high school and college credit in construction/woodworking. The classes were taught by David Flores and approximately 27 students took advantage of this opportunity. Instructor Flores and Superintendent Perea presented all the members of the board and President Dr. Pete Campos with a wooden trinket box made by the students in this program.

At the Mora site, the academic programs are flourishing. Evidence of this appears in the fact that five students from the Mora area graduated with their RN's including Christopher Kelley and Joey Vigil. In addition, seven juniors from Mora high school were inducted into Phi Theta Kappa which is an honor society for community colleges. Also, four Mora high graduates graduated with regular high school diplomas along with general education certificates from Luna.

All the satellites do community outreach and Mora is no different. Wanda Martinez wrote a grant for the Mora Volunteer Fire Department which allotted $12,000 for EMT certification of all Mora County volunteer firefighters. This is essentially a pilot program as most volunteer firefighters are not necessary EMT certified. This grant will allow Mora County to run more ambulances so that response time is shortened tremendously.

The outcome of this work session was a greater appreciation for the satellites and everything that they do. The faculty and staff of the Springer Satellite are grateful to the board, Dr. Campos, and the many satellite/site supporters for their attendance.

The presenters discussed all of the many ways the satellites contribute to the overall success rate of the main campus. Healthcare Career Pathways students recognized

Healthcare Career Pathways held a program success reception on Tuesday, May 13 at the Raton High School Media Center. Students were recognized for their completion of the two-year program and all partners were recognized and presented with plaques and/or certificates.

Luna Community College partnered with the Raton Public Schools, Miners' Colfax Medical Center, and New Mexico Highlands University in 2010 to work on this two-year healthcare program initiative. The pathway program provided high school juniors and seniors with hands-on experience. The initiative was designed for students to have a seamless transition from high school into a higher education institution with completion of many core courses, which are required within healthcare degree programs in college.

A major component of the pathways was to instruct students on how to deliver quality healthcare and the importance of performance improvement functions in all aspects of healthcare. The program had an emphasis on customer service skills and the delivery of quality healthcare.

A structured curriculum consisted of both instructional and practical skills, which has prepared them to continue their educational efforts in the healthcare field. Students that completed this healthcare pathway program now have the skills and abilities to test to become a certified nursing assistant and will either become employed in the healthcare area or continue in their studies of healthcare professions such as the Licensed Practical Nursing Program, Registered Nurse Program or other allied healthcare positions. The goal of the initiative was to recruit and retain individuals in the healthcare field in Colfax County. The six primary communities in Colfax County all have healthcare professional shortages. Raton, which is the largest of the six communities, has a community hospital, a long term care facility, family practice associates, internal medicine, ob/gyn and general surgery services available.

Luna Community College delivered the online curriculum. Miners' Colfax Medical Center providing the clinical aspect of the two-year program where students received hands-on experience. This allowed students to work side-by-side with a mentoring healthcare team. This is the third group that has completed the two-year program. It started with 14 students and ended with 10. We are very proud of these students!

LCC to host 10th Annual Car Show

A variety of entries are expected at this year's LCC Car Show. Call Anthony Baca at 505/429-0425, for more information.

Luna Community College will be having its 10th Annual Car Show from 10 a.m. to 3 p.m. on Saturday, June 7 at the college. It is a free event for spectators.

A $20 entry fee is required per vehicle. Entries will be received until the day of the event. The first 100 paid entries will receive a commemorative t-shirt and a plaque. All entries will qualify for door prize drawings. Entries will be received until the day of the event.

"There will be a pre-registration and a cruise night that will take place from 6 p.m. to 8 p.m. on Friday, June 6 at The Holiday Inn Express," says LCC Car Show Coordinator Anthony Baca. "Refreshments will be served. I'm inviting all car enthusiasts to participate and cruise around our beautiful city in preparation for the car show the next day."

Money raised will go into the Automotive Technology Scholarship Fund.

There will also be music, activities for children and food vendors at the family event.

"This is a great opportunity to come out and see the talent of individuals in this community. There are a lot of mechanical and painting skills that our students and community members have,"—Anthony Baca.

"It will be a great, fun family event," said Baca who is also an LCC Auto Collision Instructor. "This is a great opportunity to come out and see the talent of individuals in this community. There are a lot of mechanical and painting skills that our students and community members have. There is going to be a lot of great vehicles. It is open to all makes, years and models of trucks, cars, motorcycles and bicycles. There will also be some sponsored trophies given out. In addition, there will be some automotive icon awards."

The 10th Annual LCC Car Show is sponsored by the LCC Student Activities Office, LCC Foundation and LCC SkillsUSA.

For more information on the 10th LCC Car Show call Anthony Baca at 454-2591 or 429-0425 or Gene Sandoval at 454-2590.
