Got Skills! LCC's Carlos Urioste ready for competition

Luna Community College auto collision repair student Carlos Urioste works on his late father's Chevrolet Pick Up. Urioste, along with several other LCC students are gearing up for the state SKILLSUSA competition in April.

Carlos Urioste has worked on cars since he was a little boy.

Today, the Luna Community College auto collision student is out to show his talents to the entire state during the New Mexico SkillsUSA competition from Wednesday, April 3 to Saturday April 6 in Albuquerque.

Urioste, along with several other LCC students, will compete against the state's best in different vocational categories.

"Since I was about seven or eight years old, I was always around cars," says Urioste. "My dad inspired me to like cars."

Jesus Urioste, Carlos' dad, passed away two years ago. He too was a LCC graduate in automotive.

"I think about my dad all the time," says Urioste. "I know he is watching down on me and I know he would be proud on what I am doing with my education and the way I am going in life."
