Associate of Arts Degree

63 credit hours

Program Goals

The Associate of Arts Degree in Criminal Justice is interdisciplinary, with criminology, sociology, law, history, psychology, and political science contributing to the field. This program provides an overview of the relationships that exist within the criminal justice system; specifically focusing on the role of law enforcement, the courts, and corrections. Students are given opportunities to apply learned concepts to “real life” situations. The goal of the Associate of Arts Degree in Criminal Justice is two-fold: 1. To prepare students for entry-level employment positions in criminal justice and related fields; and 2. To encourage students to continue their education at a four-year college or university in pursuit of baccalaureate and advanced degrees. While this degree transfers to all New Mexico four-year colleges and universities, individual courses are accepted by the receiving institution on a course-by-course basis.

A student graduating with a degree in Criminal Justice should:

- Demonstrate knowledge of the criminal justice system in American society.
- Demonstrate knowledge of the historical development, role, and function of law enforcement, Courts, and corrections and describe the relationships between all actors within the criminal Justice system.
- Analyze and evaluate the foundations of criminal law and procedure.
- Convey knowledge of fundamental theories of crime causation.
- Comprehend and demonstrate how juvenile justice developed as a separate system.
- Communicate effectively, both orally and in writing within the context of criminal justice.
- Demonstrate analytical reasoning and critical thinking skills in communicating issues related to criminal justice.
- Apply fundamental research skills by displaying, analyzing, and interpreting qualitative and Quantitative data.
- Analyze and evaluate ethical conflicts and employ ethical theories, principles and moral Reasoning skills involving issues related to criminal justice.
- Articulate how the criminal justice system is influenced by factors such as politics, Geography, economics, culture, biology, history, and social institutions.

Student graduates should also be able to:

- Transfer degree program and specific coursework to four-year educational institutions.
- Be prepared to pursue a baccalaureate degree in a wide range of fields, including but not limited to: criminal justice, criminology, sociology, psychology, social work, political science, or pre-law.
- Enter the workforce and compete for entry-level employment positions in criminal justice and/or related fields.

Alumni Surveys

As of yet this department has not administered alumni surveys.

Program Learning Assessment Plan (Weave)

Appendix B provides the program assessment of learning plan created by the faculty.

Student Alumni

As of yet this department has no data.

Curriculum Committee Work (Link)

All courses in this program are aligned with NM articulation agreements.

Final Program Approvals (Board of trustees) approvals to move program forward

None at this time.

Accreditation

As of yet no accreditation program has been established.

Evaluation of the Program

The Criminal Justice program is a popular program for our students. The decline in enrollment is consistent with the decline in enrollment throughout the college. Highly-qualified instructors have moved the program forward. The concern at this time is to advertise and hire a qualified full-time faculty member to lead the program forward.

All courses have been articulated with the HED. Student evaluations of the program and faculty have been very positive for the most part.

Criminal Justice: Associate of Arts

Program Map

This program is an interdisciplinary course of study in the areas of law enforcement, substantive law, court structure and process, and corrections as integral components of the criminal justice system. An emphasis is placed on the historical, psychological, sociological, and political aspects within criminal justice. To enhance the written communication and report writing skills of the student, the concept of writing-across-the-curriculum is utilized.
